

Scott Presents Drumming Performances at Girls Club Programs

Dr. Arvin Scott from the Music Department of the University of Georgia and friends recently presented drumming performances for both Alps Road and Fowler Drive Girls Club programs. The interactive program allowed the girls "hands on" instruction on instruments teaching them about rhythm and percussion.

Dr. Scott sponsors a community program that meets once a week called "Drumming For Success", in which he teaches young people drumming techniques and uses musical instruments to reward academic achievement. His program provides an incentive for children to set long term goals for success in life.